The Lectionary for Mass—Fourteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

First Reading: Zechariah proclaims the coming of the Messiah in striking imagery. The king will not come on a warhorse, with a display of military might, but meekly, on a beast of burden. And yet, his power is beyond question, as he sweeps away chariots, horses, and weapons of war, and proclaims peace to the whole earth.

Responsorial Psalm 145 praises God, the great king, who is full of kindness, compassion, and mercy towards all he has made.

Second Reading: Those who have been baptized into Christ are no longer “in the flesh” but rather “in the spirit.” Through Baptism, we have become the dwelling-places of the Holy Spirit, and everything we do must take this great reality into account.

Gospel: Jesus praises God who reveals his wisdom not to the usual suspects—the wise, the learned, the important—but to those no one would expect: the little ones, the childlike. This passage ends with a wonderful invitation, as Jesus calls all who carry heavy burdens to come to him and find rest. Jesus is “meek and humble of heart,” the king of gentleness and power that Zechariah foretold.
